

Jody Porter
Toyota Motor North America Inc.
Plano, TX

Jody Porter is Vice President Deputy General Counsel, at Toyota Motor North America. She was in private practice for several years before joining Toyota in 1991.

Toyota's litigation group handles product liability cases, class actions, intellectual property litigation, commercial disputes, dealer relations and administrative proceedings, as well as government investigations and regulatory matters. Over her 27-year career at Toyota, Ms. Porter has worked on a wide variety of matters, including: establishment of Toyota's sales subsidiary in Mexico, launch of Toyota's Scion division, negotiation of distribution agreements, coordination of large class actions, as well as government investigations and regulatory proceedings. Ms. Porter relocated to Plano, Texas, when Toyota opened its new national headquarters in 2017.